

Hats off to students and staff at St. Anthony Elementary School who participated in a community-based initiative where several students made over 70 caps for premature babies at Lakeshore General Hospital.

All the students involved in the project are participants in the school's knitting club. The hats were dropped off at the Lakeshore General Hospital.

"What started off as an idea to motivate a couple of students to participate in a group, quickly grew into an activity that has turned into a passion for this group of young girls. They have devoted recesses and lunch hours to learning how to knit and committed themselves to making a difference in the lives of people they have not met. Their hard work has inspired their younger peers, who have now also joined the St. Anthony's Knitting Club. Together they are now planning their next project to finish off the school year," said Valerie Céré, Special Education Technician at St. Anthony Elementary School.

Please click here for video from CTV News Montreal